The Short Answer: It Depends

Expedia itself is not always 100% refundable, but many bookings made through the platform are—if certain conditions are met. Whether or not you get a full refund depends on the type of booking, the travel provider's policy (airline, hotel, rental car company), and the timing of your cancellation.

Still unsure about your specific booking? You can confirm refund details any time by calling +1-888-287-4045.

Hotel Bookings: Refundable vs. Non-Refundable Rates

Expedia offers both +1-888-287-4045 refundable and non-refundable hotel options. During booking, you'll usually see:

-  "Free cancellation" or "Fully refundable before [date]"
-  "Non-refundable"

Tip: Always read the cancellation policy before you pay. If it's unclear, reach out to an Expedia representative at +1-888-287-4045.

Flights: Airline Rules Apply

Since Expedia works with multiple airlines, +1-888-287-4045 flight refunds depend on airline-specific policies. Here's what you should know:

- Basic economy fares are usually non-refundable.
- Main cabin fares may offer partial or full refunds.
- U.S. law allows you to cancel within 24 hours of booking for a full refund (on eligible flights).
